

MINIMUM WAGE FOR WOMEN BILL PASSED

Scale of Pay Is Seventy-five Cents to $1.25 a Day.

DOMESTICS EXCLUDED
One Member Votes Negatively Because He Objects to High Life.

The house yesterday forenoon, after a discussion, passed the bill providing a minimum wage scale for women. The bill specifies that minors are not to receive less than 75 cents a day; apprentices, for one year, not less than 90 cents; and experienced women not less than $1.25 a day. By the insertion of the word "regular" before the word "employment," it was stated on the floor that the house that the operation of the bill would not affect domestic service. The vote by which the bill passed was 14 to 14. Barnes, who is opposed to the measure, changed his vote to "aye" and gave notice of a motion to reconsider, which has the effect of delaying the bill another day.

Employers Fix Wages.

No. 212 was prepared by a committee representing manufacturers, department stores and landladies. The bill was agreed upon at a meeting held at the Commercial club, and was submitted to the women who are behind this sort of legislation. When it became apparent that the bill creating a commission would fail, it was introduced as offering the available means of establishing the scale of the minimum wage.

High Life in Stores.

Pay of Iron, Cardon of Cache, Kriebel of Salt Lake, Marchant of Summit, Monahan of Sanpete and several others spoke against the bill. One of the opponents was in favor of keeping the money girls on the farms and was opposed to them "living a high life in department stores."

Age Answers Opponents.

Every member who has opposed this bill, declared Page, has stated about the age for the working women of the state, but they set up the same argument that they set up two years ago when the nine-hour bill was up. They say the passage of this bill will be very detrimental to the working women because it immediately closes down factories, up stores, close offices and, in brief, every industry and profession in the state. Have you noticed any factories closing down, or any stores shutting up, or any offices drawing down their shutters? I should say not.

How They Voted.

Roll call on the bill showed the following: Ayes—Barnes, Bennion, Mrs. Cannon, Cook, Durkin, Edwards, Hammond, Jones, Judd, Kimball, Mrs. King, McRae, Morris, Openshaw, Reynolds, Robinson, Dr. Smith, Southwick, Smith, Wellington, Mr. Speaker—26.

Woman Deputy.

The law is to be administered by the commissioner of immigration, labor and statistics. The house recently passed a bill providing that one of the deputies in the commissioner's office be a woman, and it is likely that if the bill passed by the house yesterday becomes a law, the hands of the woman deputy will be placed on the collection of the newspaper workers with which they could have a future legislature and ask further legislation along this line.

CREMATION QUESTION CAUSES CONTROVERSY

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Dr. W. C. Howard, health officer of the District of Columbia, has precipitated a sharp controversy on the question of cremation and protesting church circles. Catholic and Protestant clergymen have taken issue with such disposition of the dead. The controversy has reached the newspapers and arguments for and against cremation are finding their way into the public mind.

Believe It Is the Only Sanitary Way of disposing of the dead," said Dr. Wood yesterday, "and surely it is the most sanitary way. I hope to see cremation extended."

William P. Russell, pastor of St. Paul's Catholic church, declared that cremation was against the teachings of the church. He declared that it was a violation of the tenets of Catholicism and that such disposition of the bodies of the dead was a reversal to the days of the Roman Empire.

Protestant pastors voiced the same view.

ARKANSAS, Ark., March 11.—Arkansas legislature last night decided to disburse with the state guard a bill providing for the calling of the "shooting up" of a negro at Fordyce last August, when a company of the guard were in town. Published statements were given during the debate.

House Notes

The house yesterday voted an appropriation of $500 from the contingent expense fund for the service of a committee to revise the house journal. The resolution on the subject was introduced by Anderson of Sanpete. It named the speaker, Page of Thru and Chief Clerk Thompson as the committee to see that every bill is properly traced from its beginning to its end. The revision of the journal requires about a month of time.

Beautiful Jewelry

Out west the individual purchaser knows nothing of Morris Vogel & Bro., New York manufacturers of jewelry.

The product of this firm is of such character that the house is widely known in trade circles—wherever jewelry is sold.

The firm of Morris Vogel & Bro. will hereafter confine its business to men's lines in jewelry.

Obviously a quick disposal of the remaining stock of women's jewelry was necessary.

It was this condition which influenced one of our buyers while in New York to negotiate for a stock ordinarily too large for the store to handle.
